

The Handy Calculators Launches Free Embeddable Calculator Widgets for Contractors and Real Estate Professionals

Coconut Creek, Florida — September 19, 2026 — For immediate release.

The Handy Calculators (thehandycalculators.com), the independent publisher of more than 180 free, no-signup online calculators, today launched its Widget Partner Program, giving contractors, real estate agents, and other small businesses a way to embed professional-grade calculators on their own websites with two lines of HTML — at no cost.

The widgets cover the questions customers ask before they ever pick up the phone: what a mortgage payment looks like, how much paint a room needs, what a concrete slab costs, how a loan amortizes. Each widget runs on the partner's own page, carries clear attribution to The Handy Calculators, and requires no account, no JavaScript framework, and no maintenance from the partner.

Partners who want reporting can join the free partner portal, where they request embed codes, see how often their widgets are viewed and used, and track which sites are live. Approved partners can move to paid licensing tiers for unbranded and white-label use.

“Every day is filled with decisions, and most decisions rest on a calculation,” said Larius Woodson, founder and editor of The Handy Calculators. “Contractors and agents already answer these questions for customers every day. Now the calculator on their website can start the conversation before the first phone call.”

Woodson is a licensed real estate broker and Realtor in North Carolina and a commercial real estate appraiser for a Florida county property appraiser's office. Every calculator on the site is built or reviewed by him, and every page documents the assumptions behind its math in plain language.

The widget catalog launches with the site's most-used tools, including mortgage, loan, tip, and construction calculators, with the full library of 180-plus calculators in English, Spanish, Portuguese, and German rolling out to embed over the coming months. Embed code and setup instructions are available at thehandycalculators.com/widgets.

About The Handy Calculators

The Handy Calculators is an independent, ad-supported calculator site publishing free, no-signup tools for money, real estate, home improvement, health, time, education, and unit conversions. Founded in 2025 and headquartered in Coconut Creek, Florida, the site publishes in four languages and licenses embeddable calculator widgets to contractor and real estate websites.

Media contact

Larius Woodson, founder & editor — support@thehandycalculators.com — thehandycalculators.com/press. Press requests are answered before anything else in the inbox.